

Jane & Sue Chocolate

Sisters, Jane Woodley and Sue Humby are originally from Ontario. They are now Island entrepreneurs operating Jane & Sue Chocolate, from their rurally charmed location in Stanley Bridge.

Both Jane & Sue have a background in the culinary industry and have always dreamed of having a business together that celebrates their love of great food. Their dream is now a reality! The store features stunning chocolates of the highest quality that you will not want to miss.

Their unique store features a modern design to showcase their hand-painted bonbons, chocolate bars and other assorted products is open to the public year-round. Additionally, their products are available in select stores across PEI.

The sisters strive to produce products that are ethically sourced such as organic, fair trade and/or part of the cacao trace program.

Jane & Sue's original business specialized in pastries and breads but when Jane developed a severe wheat allergy, they pivoted their focus and opened the chocolate store. Sue graduated from the Culinary Institute of Canada's Pastry Arts program and is the brilliant mind behind the chocolate work. Jane is the flavor master. Together, they have created an amazing, comfort food that is as luxurious to look at as it is to taste.

They are very appreciative of the various sources of assistance they have received from CBDC Central PEI from mentoring programs to financial support and advice.

They have attended entrepreneurial training events and inspirational talks. They have learned from other business leaders that the way to success is to have a strong, clear vision while keeping the integrity and essence of the product at high standards.

Their magical touch at creating individual, stunning designs on each chocolate has created beautiful boxes of delicious artwork. If you are a chocolate lover, this is a store you MUST add to your list of chocolate destinations.
